DAVIDSON AND TRINITY.

The Telegram's Suggestion Regarding a Debate Between Them.

Mr. Editor:—Not long since you stated in the Telegram that an intercollegiate debate was in contemplation between Davidson and Trinity, and suggested that it could be held at no more suitable point than Greensboro. That debate is still a subject of discussion among those directly concerned and your suggestion ought to meet the endorsement and active support of every citizen of Greensboro. There is good reason to believe, in fact it has been intimated to the writer by those well situated to judge, that by the extension of the invitation and an inducement of trifling cost it can be secured to our town, provided the debate comes off.

If we extend the invitation we ought to furnish them an auditorium free of charge and, to add to the interest of the occasion, the citizens of Greensboro, the Industrial and Immigration Association, or some other organization should offer a cup to be awarded the winning college and to be held by it until defeated by the other. This is the plan adopted by the Raleigh chamber of commerce in the Trinity-Wake Forest debate and would insure an annual recurrence of this delightfully entertaining and instructive feature.

No argument is needed to commend it to the enlightened people of Greensboro. Its advantages are at once apparent. In addition to the large number of visitors which it would bring our people would have the opportunity, free of charge, of hearing a thorough discussion of some question of public interest. The intellectual life of the whole community would be quickened while scarcely anything could afford a greater inspiration to the youth. It brings about a contact between college men and the world which is mutually beneficial, stimulates public speaking and acts as an incentive to general education which is well nigh unrivalled. The unbounded enthusiasm which pervades the overwhelming throng which assembles in Raleigh every Thanksgiving to witness the Trinity-Wake Forest debate fully attests the truth of these assertions.

If we are to have this debate no more appropriate time could be chosen than Easter Mouday. The demands of college life will hardly admit of a later date during the present scholastic year. This being the case immediate action should be taken. Cannot some of our public spirited citizens take this matter in hand and secure its enjoyment this year? O. S. Newlin.

Feb. 17, 1899.

Mr. Wescott Promoted.

Mr. C. R. Wescott, for some time chief train dispatcher on this division of the Southern, has been promoted to the position of master of trains on the Knoxville division, and left for the latter place to assume his new duties this week. Mr. Wescott is a man of unusual business ability and has creditably filled his responsible position here. One more responsible was well deserved and Mr. Wescott's new work will be equally as well performed. His many friends here congratulate him on his promotion, but regret to lose him and his estimable family from the society of the City of Flowers.

Mr. Wescott is succeeded here by Mr. G. V. Peyton, formerly one of the night dispatchers here. He is already familiar with the division and his promotion is evidence of his standing with the company.

College Girls Will Hear Perry.

There are no more appreciative people in the world than those of this city, and especially is this demonstrated when talent of a high order comes among us. Basing our predictions on this, we are sure the opera house will be packed Saturday night to hear the noted "Perry," the blind pianist, in his "Lecture Recital," a request having been made that a large number of seats be reserved for the the young ladies from Greensboro Female College who will attend, he having appeared on two former occasions in the chapel of the college making them anxious to hear him again. The admission price will be 50 cents. A lady accompanied by a gentleman with one paid ticket, will be admitted free. Tickets on sale at Fariss' drug store.

The Carnival Tonight.

Everything points to a most successful carnival at the rink tonight. More than a score of costumes of every description will surely be there. Manager Will McAdoo has everything in order and has reason to expect the largest crowd that ever attended a carnival here. Ladies will be especially provided for. The prizes, of which there are eight, are the most handsome and costly ever offered, making the competition all the more lively. Don't fail to go. Admission 25c.

BURIED IN MASS OF RUINS,

After The Burning of The Emerson Shoe Store,

A DOZEN WORKMEN CAUGHT.

Three of Them Were Killed and Five Others Were Injured—Evidence Points To Suffocation.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17—At three o'clock this morning a dozen firemen were working in the ruins of the Emerson shoe store, which was burned during the night, when a mass of iron and stone fell, burying them. William Chance, Hugh Duffy and George W. Stinle were killed and five others were injured, two of them seriously. When they were first buried the victims answered to calls, which shows they were later suffocated.

THE SCENE OF BATTLE

Over The Dispensary Has Been Removed to Raleigh.

With the closing of the polls at the primary yesterday the dispensary question passed out of the hands of the people and was placed in the hands of our senator and representatives in Raleigh. The saloon people refused to grant the request of the representatives that a full expression of the people be had in the primary and refrained from voting. They advertised this in advance and the day being a most disagreeable one many dispensary advocates did not vote, knowing the majority of those cast would be in favor of the dispensary.

There were 533 votes polled and only two of these were against the dispensary. This is a majority of all the votes registered in any election in which city matters alone have been at stake. The majority is over two hundred more than the total vote cast for mayor and board of aldermen at the last election. Had the opposition showed any fight the dispensary vote would have been at least one-third larger and many believe it would have reached 900.

The vote cast in the face of no contest and the fact that there was a deep snow and much ice on the ground and a heavy rain falling, is considered very good.

THEY ARE COMING.

The Murray-Hartt Company Will be Here Next Week.

The managers of the academy of music, wishing to extend to their patrons a week of fun at popular prices, have engaged for next week the "Repertoire Comedy" success of the season, the Murray-Hartt company. They will remain in Greensboro one week, presenting nothing but the latest laughing successes. The company is one of the strongest organizations on the road, and is composed of none but talented and versatile ladies and gentlemen.

In the lead are two of the best repertoire people in the business—Mr. Frances Murray and Miss Louise Hartt. They are both clever people, and have been very successful in repertoire and also with sterling companies, having been two years with Lewis Morrison's "Faust," and other plays of that standard.

On Monday night they will be seen in Mr. Murray's own laugh-producer, "My Uncle From Japan." This comedy has had its run in the best cities of the country, and has gained for itself recognition in the theatrical world. Ladies will be admitted free Monday night. Come out and have a good, wholesome laugh. Popular prices throughout the engagement.

Why The Necessity?

Greensboro authorities have adopted a curfew ordinance, applying to all under sixteen years of age. Its operation will be watched with interest, if not more or less anxiety by the rising generation in other communities. But as the Philadelphia Ledger wisely says on this subject. "If every family had a curfew of its own, no town would need one." And it may also be added without this family sympathy and support no town law on the subject will ever amount to anything. On the whole we believe and have many reasons for believing that we are having too much legislation upon the matters that could and should be left to individual and social control without the interference of legal Dogberries.—Morning Post.

Will Not Be Impeached.

Judge Norwood has tendered his resignation to Governor Russell as judge of the Twelfth judicial district and the same has been accepted. This will avoid the necessity of impeachment proceedings.

NEW OFFICERS OF THE A. & Y.

None of The Greensboro Officials Removed.

General Manager J. R. Kenly, of the Atlantic Coast Line, has issued a special order announcing the appointment of the future officers of the Atlantic & Yadkin. The appointments are as follows: Former general manager of the C. F. & Y. V., J. W. Fry, to be assistant general manager of the Atlantic & Yadkin, with office at Wilmington; former chief engineer of the C. F. & Y. V., H. L. Fry, to be assistant engineer, with office at this place and former master of trains J. C. Murchison to retain his former position with office here. The new officers are: Engineer of roadway, E. B. Pleasants, Superintendent of motive power, Symington, Purchasing agent, F. H. Fechtig, and Car accountant, W. F. Flanagan, all the latter with offices at Wilmington.

The many friends of the Greensboro officials congratulate them, though the people of Greensboro will regret to lose Capt. J. W. Fry and family as residents of this city. The order retaining him goes into effect Sunday and it is supposed that he will move his office, at least, to Wilmington at once. Capt. Fry is now in Fayetteville. Messrs. Brooks and Wills, clerks in Capt. Fry's office, will retain their positions and go to Wilmington with him. Messrs. Percy Page, Chas. E. Brower and Schenck lose their positions. We hope, however, that these young men will remain in Greensboro.

The first time table of the Atlantic & Yadkin was issued yesterday. The schedule of the old road was not changed.

INVESTIGATION BEGUN.

The Colored A. & M. College of Greensboro.

The special committee appointed to investigate the Colored Agricultural and Mechanical College at Greensboro held its first meeting last night. The committee is composed of Senator Smith and Representatives H. C. Wall and J. O. Carr.

President James B. Dudley, of the Colored A. & M. College, was before the committee and brought with him the books and papers of the institution for the past two and a half years. He was questioned by the committee and answered freely as to the management of the institution since his connection with it.

The committee was not able in the short session of a preliminary meeting to go very far into the details of expenditures. It appeared, however, from the cursory examination of accounts that was had that the bad management, if such there has been, was due more to the board of directors than to the president of the institution. Col. T. B. Keogh for a while received $600 a year and an expense account that was out of all proportion to what would seem necessary in his capacity as president of the board. A meeting of the board cost an average of about $250, the directors getting 10 cents per mile and $4 a day.

The faculty gets in the way of salaries about $10,000 a year, while there are but 135 students in attendance upon the institution. This will probably lead either to a reduction of the appropriation given the institution by the state or to the consolidation of other schools with it. The committee will continue to sit from time to time until the investigation is completed.—News and Observer.

The Damage to Truck.

Mr. C. M. Steinmetz, of Rose Hill, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Truckers and Fruit Growers Association, was here several hours yesterday. In conversation with a member of the Star staff, he said that, so far as he has been able to ascertain, the damage to truck by the recent severe weather is very slight, owing to the fact that plants were covered with snow before the extremely cold wave reached this section. Strawberries are not hurt at all, he thinks. The lettuce is probably the most badly damaged crop. Cabbage, radish and similar plants are also injured or killed outright. A number of truckers in this immediate vicinity report losses by reason of damage to crops of this character. However, it is not generally believed that the loss to truckers in this section will be even as heavy as now estimated.—Wilmington Star.

Relief Work Closes.

Too much praise cannot be given the mayor and his relief committee for the untiring and through work they have done in relieving the necessities of the destitute thorough the recent zero weather. Over four hundred families have been supplied with either fuel or provisions. In that number it is almost certain that some have imposed upon the relief workers; but that is a matter for their consciences and will not trouble those who contributed to the fund or those who distributed aid. The weather has moderated, the snow is fast disappearing and today the relief work closes.

Still a few pairs left of the men's fine sample and odd size shoes at Thacker & Brockmann's to be sold at $1.98.

Ed King, colored, broke jail at Graham a few days ago. The police here were notified to look out for him. This morning Officer Scott, who has a way of catching runaway negroes, caught Ed and telegraphed the chief of police at Graham to come after him. A TRIPLE FREIGHT WRECK

At Lawyers, Va., Yesterday—Track Still Blocked.

The four sections of number 37 yesterday did not come from Washington. The reporter was misinformed. The trains were made up at Lynchburg, the track between that place and Washington still being blocked. The first train to leave Washington on the Southern since Monday, was number 35, the southbound fast mail, due here at 7:25 p. m., which left Washington on time yesterday. At this writing, however, the train has not arrived here, for after coming over the snow-blocked district it was blocked by a triple freight wreck which occurred at Lawyers, twelve miles this side of Lynchburg yesterday afternoon. An extra freight was left on the main track and its engine started to Lynchburg for water, meeting and passing through freight No. 37. Later the engine of No. 73 undertook to push the extra freight into the side track at Lawyers. While this was being done, local freight No. 61, southbound, collided with the rear of No. 73. A number of freight cars were wrecked, and the engine of No. 61 was seriously damaged. Nobody was hurt.

Numbers 35, (yesterday's), 31 (the Florida Special, due here at 1:25 a. m.) and 37 (the southbound vestibule due here at 7:05 a. m.) were marked indefinitely late today.

Later—Number 31 came in at 12-35 p m, slightly less than twelve hours late. Number 35 being more than 12 hours late, was annulled and run as part of number 35, making it necessary to run that train in four sections again today.

THAT ITEM OF $20,000,000.

Ruled Out of Sundry Civil Bill on a Point of Order.

Washington, Feb. 16—Much of the time of today's session of the house was occupied in discussion of a point of order made by Mr. Wheeler, of Kentucky, and Mr. Ball, of Texas, against an item in the sundry civil bill, apppropriating $20,000,000 in accordance with the terms of the peace treaty with Spain. The point was sustained by Chairman Hopkins and the item went out. Several futile attempts were made to frame a proposition in agreement with the rules, but they ceased on the announcement of Mr. Bailey, of Texas, of rules committee, that a way would be found for the enactment of necessary legislation. Mr. Hepburn made a final attempt to attach the Nicaragua canal bill to the pending measure but his motion to recommit it with instructions to add it to the appropriation bill was ruled out of order.

Bank Cases Postponed.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 15—The case of W E. Breese, W. H. Penland and J. E. Dickerson, charged with embezzlement of funds of the First National bank, came up for trial here in the Federal court this morning and was continued till March 7th. Judge Purnell presided. Five grounds for continuance were urged, the main one being that Senator Pritchard, one of the defendant's attorneys, was absent on important business in Washington.

Prof. Holmes Here Yesterday.

Prof. J. A. Holmes, of the state geological survey, was in the city last evening. In the afternoon in company with Mr. C. G. Wright he drove out to Pomona to confer with county commissioner Boren on the subject of road improvement. We hope and believe that our county commissioners will do more in this line in the future than has ever been done in the past.

HOW IT WAS WON.

Editorially the Atlanta Journal has the following to say of a prosperous North Carolina county:

Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, is recognized as the most prosperous and progressive county in North Carolina.

It has won this fair fame more by its enterprise in building and maintaining good roads.

The county has adopted the plan which we pursued when we constructed the beautiful chert road from West End to College Park, namely, to build the best roads while you are building.

Reaching out from Charlotte in many directions are many firm and clean roads, good in all weathers and easily kept in repair.

The business of the city has been increased immensely by these roads and the value of farm lands for many miles around has increased 30 to 100 per cent.

An election will soon be held on an issue of $100,000 of bonds for the extension of Mecklenburg county's fine road system. The bonds will surely be voted and the good work carried on.

Mecklenburg county shows that she appreciates the value of good roads by protecting them. After she has built a road she protects it sacredly.

We quote the above for the benefit of our people who are lukewarm on the subject of road improvement We have emphasized from time to time the importance of building good roads from all sections leading to our city. There is no other one thing, we are firmly convinced, that will do more toward the material advancement of both city and country. Prosperous farmers and country people make prosperous towns and cities. If low freight rates are conducive to the growth of wholesale houses in this section, surely any one can see that good roads would in the same way operate to the advantage of farmers having produce to sell by enabling them to carry twice and three times the amount at one trip, thus greatly reducing the expense of marketing their products.

But all this ground has been repeatedly gone over. It is pretty well conceded now that we need better highways and must have them. Let every man get a shoulder to the wheel and start the "goods roads" machine. Talk it to your neighbors and tell your neighbors to pass the word along that in material advancement, as well as moral, old Guilford must keep up with the procession.

It is not all one way with the lawmakers in the congress of the United States. It has been pretty generally conceded, we believe, that the Nicaragua canal bill would pass. Yet it was defeated, as announced in our news columns yesterday. Also during the consideration of the sundry civil bill the paragraph carrying the appropriation of $20,000,000 for payment to Spain under the terms of the peace treaty was stricken out upon a point of order.

Talk has again arisen about impeaching Governor Russell. The Telegram has before remarked that if the governor, by any act, is liable to impeachment proceedings they should be instituted. Otherwise all such talk should cease. It is senseless to do so much talking about a thing which can't be done; and if it can be done, talk should cease and action begin.

The question of a dispensary for Charlotte was yesterday argued pro and con before the house committee on propositions and grievances. It is thought the bill will be favorably reported. Mr. Clarkson, of Mecklenburg, is quoted as favoring it, while Mr. Ranson was non-committal.

There is talk in Charlotte of the establishment of a new morning paper there, which, it is understood, will advocate the dispensary. The News says, however, that the movement has not proceeded far enough for definite announcement.

It is a little strange that people who argue that petitions amount to nothing will try so hard to get up petitions. It is a little strange that a man is willing to pay for a thing that is worth nothing!

Not a Coward After All.

An army surgeon tells a story of an officer many of you know. It was before Santiago. The surgeon, going to the front, came upon the young officer, sitting beside the road, trembling like a leaf and whiter than the dead men around him. At sight of the surgeon he began to talk.

"I'm a coward. I'm a coward. I'm a coward," he said. "I knew I'd run, and I did. Oh, Lord, I wish you'd kill me! I'm disgraced forever. I just got scared. I knew I would. I was going along all right, not thinking of anything but getting at the dashed Spaniards, yelling to my men to come on and running ahead as fast as I could, when all of a sudden I stubbed my toe or something, and then I can't remember being scared, but I must have been, for I came galloping back here, sick as a dog. Oh, I feel so awfully gone! I'm a blanked coward, and I wish I was dead. Oh, Lord, why don't somebody shoot me? I've got such an awful goneness right here." And he put his hand to his stomach. The surgeon gave him a quick look and caught him as he plunged forward in a faint. Where the awful goneness was a Mauser bullet had found its billet. They carried the wounded man to the field hospital, and he chuckled all the way.

"Oh, my! Oh, my!" he said over and over. "I wasn't scared! I wasn't scared!" And then he would laugh delightedly. "I wasn't scared! I was hit—I was just hit! I ain't a coward after all."—Washington Post.

Jugglers of India.

Two men—one old and emaciated, carrying a native drum; the other young and well fed, fantastically gowned with an overskirt of colored handkerchiefs, and a multitude of bells which jangle noisily at his slightest movement; long, ragged hair; altogether a hideous figure.

The drummer begins a weird tomtoming and the other man an incantation. Then he extends a "supra"—a bamboo tray used by all natives—on which any one who pleases places a large handful of rice and the same quantity of grain. The two ingredients are thoroughly amalgamated, so that it would in the ordinary way take hours to separate them.

Now the fantastic man with his tray begins. He turns round slowly, gradually quickening his pace (the drummer also keeping time), faster and faster in a giddy vortex, the tray at times almost out of his hands, yet so cleverly handled that not a grain falls out. It is very trying to watch, but in a couple of minutes both stop simultaneously, and the man shows to the wondering spectators two little heaps—one of rice and the other grain—at different ends of the tray, which in his sickening gyrations he has been able to separate by some extraordinary manipulation.—Pearson's Weekly.

Willing to Share the Honor.

Patient—No, doctor, there isn't any particular pain, but somehow I feel as if I were going to die.

Doctor (who has been called out of bed at 2 o'clock in the morning)—Let me feel your pulse. (After a moment) Have you made your will?

Patient (alarmed)—No, but—

Doctor—Who is your lawyer?

Patient—Mr. Studds. Why, doctor, do you think—

Doctor—Then you had better send for him. Who is your minister?

Patient (still more alarmed)—Rev. Mr. Saintly. Am I—

Doctor—I think he had better be sent for.

Patient (badly frightened)—Oh, doctor, do you really think I'm going to die?

Doctor—No, I don't. There's nothing at all the matter with you, but I hate to be the only man who has been made a fool of tonight.—Liverpool Mercury.

A Pretty Effect.

An illuminated sign on a store up town spells the name of the proprietor in letters outlined by electric lights and is lit up and then made dark again automatically. When the sign begins to shine out, the electric bulbs at the left are the first to appear, and then the illumination follows the course of an immense pen writing the name out. So closely is the course of the pen followed that the "i" in the name is not dotted with its especial electric light dot until the last flourish at the extreme right of the name is lit up. Then, with a perceptible interval, as if the gigantic pen was being carried back, the dot on the "i" is made and shines out and the whole name appears.—New York Sun.

Constant Squeezing.

"Now, Algernon," said Miss Fussanfeather, as she was tightly held in the embrace of her fiance, "they tell me that men get tired of squeezing after they are married. Will you promise me not to give it up after we are man and wife?"

"Oh, I assure you it is not necessary to make any such promises," replied the young man. "I guarantee you'll have all the squeezing you want to do to get along on $7 a week."—Exchange.

True Friendship.

Author—When you come to my new book, I hope you will not be too severe on me.

Critic—I read it last week, and my criticism was certainly not detrimental.

Author—Why, I didn't see any notice of it in your column!

Critic—Of course not. We have always been friends, and for that reason I refrained from printing my candid opinion of it.—Chicago News.

As Mexicans Do It.

"I am very sorry to hear," remarked the curate pensively to one of his parishioners, "that one of the great lights of our church, Brother MacLellan, has become insolvent and as the result will have to close his house of business."

"Another case of 'The Light That Failed,'" added the parishioner as he left the parsonage.—Mexican Herald.

Notice to Taxpayers!

Please call at my office in Mendenhall building and pay your state and county taxes. I cannot call at offices and residences for same. All not paid by March 31, 1899, will be advertised and sold. Shall make a clear sweep of '97 and '98 taxes.

The God of Murderers.

In a certain mountain village called Laltuk, on the northwest frontier of Burma, is a sacred pool, in which is said to live a nat—i. e., a demon—called Shearpanlai, who is the guardian spirit of murderers.

When a murder is committed anywhere in these hills, the water of this pool is reported to turn blood red.

Now, when this happens it is a warning sign to the villagers, who are the wardens of the pool, to be on their guard lest the murderer, whoever he may be and from whatever village he may come, unobserved, succeed in reaching the pool, for the Chin law or custom is that if a murderer manages to elude the "avengers of blood" (who are usually some near blood relations of the victim) and the vigilance of the guardians of the pool and succeeds in gaining it and washes his hands in its blood red water, which, as soon as this occurs, resumes its usual appearance, testifying that the god of murder is appeased, he is absolved from his blood guiltiness and is thereafter a free man, and no one may henceforth molest him.

On the other hand, if he were overtaken by his pursuers or were he prevented by the village guardians from reaching the well he would speedily pay the penalty of his crime with his life.—London Answers.

Bismarck and the Pope.

On another occasion—it was in 1898—Eugen Wolf, the well known traveler and writer, came on a visit to the prince, after having passed through Rome and having had an audience with the pope. "The pope asked me where I was going to on leaving Rome. I told him that I was going back home to Germany and that my first object would be to pay my respects to Prince Bismarck, who had hitherto always received me. The pope thereupon said: 'Il Principe di Bismarck! Do not forget to greet him from me.' So, when I arrived at Friedrichsruh, I told the prince that I had greetings from Rome to deliver to him.

"'Oh, indeed!' said Bismarck. 'I suppose you have paid a visit to the pope. How fares the health of the holy father? I must tell you that I always got on very well indeed with him. He even gave me his highest decoration, mounted in brilliants. It was only that confounded (verflixte) little excellency (Windthorst) whom I could not manage to get along with.'"—Sidney Whitman in Harper's Magazine.

The Editor on Carelessness.

"Yes," said the editor as he put his gum brush into the ink bottle and tried to paste on a clipping with his pen, "yes, the great fault of newspaper contributors is carelessness.

"Indeed," he continued as he dropped the copy he had been writing into the wastebasket and marked "Editorial" across the corner of a poem entitled "An Ode to Death," "contributors are terribly careless.

"You would be surprised," said he as he clipped out a column of fashion notes and labeled them "Farm," "to see the slipshod writing that comes into the editorial sanctum.

"Misspelled, unpunctuated, written on both sides of the sheet, illegible, ungrammatical stuff. Contributors are terribly careless. They are"—

Just then the office boy came in with that dictatorial and autocratic manner he has and demanded more copy, and the editor handed him the love letter he had just written to his sweetheart.—London Globe.

Private Butter.

I am reminded of an incident on one of the Atlantic steamers which took place not long ago and in which a married member of a family, to whom it is not necessary to allude, was a party. The husband and wife appeared at all meals, flanked on either side by a large dish of butter.

As it was an English ship and butter was not served at many of the meals, some who were neighbors were delighted to see that the hors d'ouevre had at last a place on the table. They helped themselves bountifully at luncheon.

At dinner they were surprised to see little sticks in the middle of the mound of butter with a pasteboard card attached. The card read, "Private Butter; Keep Off the Grass."

It is needless to say that the hint was taken.—New York Journal.

English Army Pay.

The father of a subaltern in the English army says that his son, "after having had about $5,000 spent on his education at a public school and being crammed for his examinations by various tutors and about $1,250 more spent on his uniform and Indian outfit, obtained a second lieutenancy, for which he receives the munificent pay of 5s. 8d. ($1.30) a day, a sum scarcely sufficient to pay for his messing, washing and servant." In India this is increased to 202 rupees a month, but his expenses are at least 240 rupees. A balance is thus left on the wrong side, which this British parent has to make good.—Exchange.

Hope.

"It seems to me," said the chronic misanthrope, 'that I haven't a friend in the wide world."

"Well," said the cold blooded acquaintance, "cheer up. You know the earth is cooling and cold contracts. Mebbe the world'll seem narrower after awhile."—Washington Star.

Getting at It.

Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for la grippe we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. E. Holton.

For La Grippe

Thomas Whitfield & Co., 250 Wabash ave., corner Jackson st., one of Chicago's oldest and most prominent druggists, recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe, as it not only gives a prompt and complete relief, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. Copper Colored Splotches.

There is only one cure for Contagious Blood Poison—the disease which has completely baffled the doctors. They are totally unable to cure it, and direct their efforts toward bottling the poison up in the blood and concealing it from view. S. S. S. cures the disease positively and permanently by forcing out every trace of the taint.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do no good, I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved and was delighted with the result. The large red splotches on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite greatly improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass.

Opening of the Social Season and inauguration of the Magnificent

New York & Florida Limited Service

JANUARY 16, 1899.

The opening of the Florida season will be signalized this year as usual by the placing in service of the "New York and Florida Limited" between New York and St. Augustine, Fla. This is acknowledged to be the finest train in the world, in its appointments, luxury and detail of finish, and the first of these trains was constructed by the Pullman company for the use of the President of the United States on official tours.

"The New York and Florida Limited" leaves New York daily except Sunday at 11:50 a. m., via the pennsylvania Railroad, the Southern Railway, Florida Central & Peninsular R. R. and the Florida East Coast Railway, and reaches St. Augustine at 2.20 p. m. the following day, making the run, which exceeds 1,000 miles, in little more than twenty-four hours. No train has attracted so much attention, and its fame has been heralded wherever railroading is known. It is composed of Pullman compartment cars, each room being finished in different woods and supplied with private lavatory and toilet; Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars of the latest pattern and finish; a royal club car for the gentlemen; an observation car with a handsome drawing room at its rear opening on to a wide platform; a library car, and dining car, in which the service and the cuisine rank with the finest New York hotels. This "New York and Florida Limited" runs through solid to St. Augustine with the exception of one car which is detached at Columbia, S. C., and goes through to Aiken, which it reaches at 9:35 the next morning after leaving New York, and Augusta at 9:50. Brunswick and Jeckyl Island are conveniently reached by this train at 12 o'clock noon through the perfect connections afforded at Everett, Ga.

There are two other fine trains between New York ond Florida via "The Florida Short Line," one the "Washington and Southwestern Vestibule Limited," leaving New York at 4:20 p. m. daily, and the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York at 12:05 midnight. The former train carries through Pullman drawing room sleeping cars between New York, Jacksonville and Tampa, and also offers Pullman sleeping car service between New York and Augusta, Ga., with connections for Aiken, Brunswick and Jekyl Island. The latter carries through drawing room sleeping cars between New York and Jacksonville, connecting with parlor car service to points on F. C. & P. R. R. and F. E. C. Ry. Dining cars are operated on all trains of the Southern Ry. "The Florida Short Line" in connection with the Florida East Coast Railway to Miami offers the most direct, quickest and delightful service to Nassau, Havana and Key West. For full information, reservations, etc., apply to J. L. Adams, G. E. A., F. C. & P. R. R., 353 Broadway, New York, or to A. S. Thweatt, E. P. A., Southern Ry, 271 Broadway, New York.

Of Interest to Parents

The little child of George White came near burning to death Saturday night. She was standing in front of the fire when her cotton dress ignited, and but for the quick heroic action of her mother, would have burned to death. Mrs. White had her hands severely burned in putting out the clothing of her little one.—Durham Special to Raleigh Morning Post, Jan. 31.

Famous Dog Actors.

Of all the illustrious dogs which ever trod the boards the most famous is Dragon, the property of Captain Montdidier in the French army. This gentleman was murdered in the forest of Bondy by his friend, Lieutenant Macaire of the same regiment. After the crime Dragon showed such a strange aversion to Macaire that suspicion was aroused against him. In the end he confessed his crime, and his accomplice, Landry, in trying to escape, was seized by the faithful animal and bitten to death.

This story has held the English stage, on and off, since the year of Waterloo, and it is only three decades since two "stars," named Lamb and Emmett, played in it with their trained dog Carlo at the Marylebone theater, London, then directed by Joe Cave. This animal was also the principal performer in a canine drama named "Poor Dog Tray." Eighty years ago there was a theater at Peckham where a youth named John Baldwin Buckstone made his debut as the injured captain.

There is a venerable theatrical legend which deals with a piece called "The Caravan Driver and His Dog." One evening the leading tragedian was taken ill, and the prompter rushed off to the manager to inform him that the play must be changed. "How you alarmed me!" said that worthy man, ordering a glass of strong brandy and water to steady his nerves. "The tragedian unwell! I was afraid it was the dog."—New York Times.

Wanted, a Holograph Will.

A Canadian barrister is responsible for the following: One day a farmer came into his office and requested that a holograph will should be prepared for his signature. The lawyer began at once to explain terms, but the tiller of the prairie, who prided himself not a little upon his legal knowledge, only grew angry. "I want a holograph will," he declared, "and I'm going to have it," he added in parenthesis. When the impossibility of his request was still pointed out he angrily stumped from the office shouting out: "D—n it! If I can't have a holograph will, I'll blamed well die intestine!"

Almost as funny was the tradesman who had recently been left some land. He came to the lawyer with instructions for a deed of transfer to be prepared in favor of himself. On being asked his reasons, he gave them thus: "Don't feel sort of comfortable about that bit of country. I know how particular you lawyer gents are, and I thought maybe that if I signed a deed making over the property to myself no one would be able to touch it." When his application was refused, he went away in a rage, and subsequently tried to bring an action against the lawyer, who, he imagined, was trying to defraud him.—Cornhill Magazine.

When Mascagni Composes.

Mascagni's greatest passion and delight is to conduct an orchestra, for which he himself says he has a natural talent. But what is more interesting is to watch Mascagni composing his works. His wife, Signora Lina; Mimi (his eldest boy), Dino (another son) and Emilia (his little daughter) all have their parts in it. When the maestro is feverishly writing notes and rushing to the piano to catch an inspiration, his wife follows him to and fro, while the children climb on his knees, he unconsciously running his fingers through their curls.

As soon as he has fixed on a melody he gathers the children in his arms, and they all roll indiscriminately on the floor, the shouts, bumps, laughter, tears, making such an uproar that at last Signora Mascagni interferes, scolding her husband and telling him that a grave musician should give a better example to his family. She bundles away the children, and he returns to his desk, but a few minutes later the scene repeats itself.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Maharajah's Revenge.

The maharanee of Nepaul committed suicide in horror at the disfigurement which an attack of smallpox had caused in her features. The maharajah, who was passionately attached to her, first wreaked his vengeance on the physicians who had attended her in her illness. Then he flew at higher game.

Out of the great temple he brought the idols, placed loaded cannon before them and bade gunners fire. In terror at the proposed blasphemy they refused. Thereupon the maharajah hanged several of them. The survivors then submitted, and the guns were fired and the idols blown to pieces.—Leipsic Missionsblatt.

Took Him at His Word.

Gradgrind (to his employees)—Nobody but me is to touch that clock. Nobody is to begin or leave off work except as it indicates the time.

Foreman—Yes, sir.

Gradgrind (the next day)—Why, the day is one-fourth gone and nobody's at work! What does this mean?

Foreman (meekly)—You forgot to wind the clock, sir.—London Fun.

Up In Fractions.

Mamma—Bessie, how many sisters has your new playmate?

Bessie—He has one, mamma. He tried to fool me by saying that he had two half sisters, but he didn't know that I've studied arithmetic.—Tacoma Ledger.

How It Happened.

"What time is it?"

"Haven't you got a watch?"

"Yes, but I don't wear it any more."

"Why not?"

"People kept bothering me asking me what time it was."—Chicago Record.

Reason Enough.

Maud—What made her change her wedding day?

May—It was bargain day at Roller's.—Jewish Comment.

La Grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avoid it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Elden, Mo., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for La Grippe." Pleasant to take, quick to act. Howard Gardner.

Black damp in the Diamondville (Wyo.) coal mine killed Miners John T. Russell and E. T. Wright.

Unloaded Guns.

"Unloaded guns are the deadliest weapons in the world," remarked a clerk in a Royal street curio shop. "They are always going off and killing somebody. Yesterday a fellow brought an old horse pistol into the shop. It was one of the dragoon model; loads with powder and ball, you know, and uses a percussion cap. The thing was as big as a small cannon and hadn't been fired, I suppose, since the year 1. The owner assured me it wasn't loaded, and, as there was no cap on the nipple, I handled it a little more carelessly than I otherwise would have done. We were standing at the back door, and I raised the hammer to see whether the lock was still in working order.

"When I pulled the trigger, there was an explosion that shook the house and scared us both half out of our wits, while the bullet hit a packing case over there in the corner and knocked it into smithereens. How the confounded machine happened to go off was a mystery until I closely examined the lock. Then I saw that an old cap had evidently corroded and attached itself to the hammer, which was slightly cup shaped at the end, and when I cocked the weapon it simply lifted off the nipple and came up too. It was only one of the little tricks of unloaded weapons. They are mighty good things to let alone."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Banking In Switzerland.

Some of the methods are sufficiently antiquated, according to our standards. For instance, it requires 15 minutes in which to make a deposit at a bank. Every banking house has numerous chairs outside the railing, and the visitor is expected to sit quietly and cultivate a spirit of patience while the machinery is getting under way.

A customer who wishes to make a deposit goes to a window and hands in his money, together with a memorandum of the amount. The employee behind the railing counts the money and prepares a receipt for it, adding his signature by way of preliminary. Then a small boy takes this receipt up stairs and submits it to an official, who studies it and then ponders for awhile as to whether it will be safe to take the money.

If he decides that the bank can undertake the risk, he passes the receipt to another man, who prepares a duplicate slip and makes several entries, and finally signs his name. Then, as soon as another man has examined the receipt and added his name it is taken down stairs and turned over to the depositor. There is one satisfaction—the money is thoroughly deposited.—Zurich Letter in Chicago Record.

Temper and Football.

At football all manner of men have played at the ends of the rush line—an ideal man would be a composite of all the other men on the team.

He would be about 5 feet 10 in height and would weigh about 165 or 168. He would have the speed of a half, the quickness of a quarter, the bulldog pluck and nerve of a guard, and the brain of a captain. In addition to all these (and contrary to the opinions of most people) he would have a quick temper. There is nothing in football nor indeed in any form of athletics incompatible with a little of the "Old Adam," nor is there anything like anger to put life and fire into a tired man late in a hard fought game.

One can be as angry as he may and still be a gentleman. Temper, properly directed and controlled, will add fierceness to one's tackles, speed to his running and strength to his blocking, as nothing else on earth will do, and many the captains there are who, knowing this, have stirred up their wearied men with harsh words of command which they themselves realized were unmerited simply to make their teams work harder and faster.—College Athlete.

A Golf Story.

At a dinner party not long ago a certain young gentleman (an enthusiastic golfer) started in with the shellfish to enumerate to his partner the details of a match that he had been playing that day, says W. G. Van Tassell Sutphen in The Independent. It was not until the pudding was brought on that he suddenly bethought himself that he had been doing all the talking. Indeed, the young lady had not said a single word during the entire progress of the meal. It was possible that she was not interested in the subject—incredible, but still possible.

"I am afraid that I have been boring you with this talk of the shop," he said in half apology.

"Oh, no, not at all," was the polite response. "Only what is golf?"

Keeping Cool.

At one of the viceregal balls in the Emerald Isle a young "detrimental" came up to where a young lady was sitting and asked in her mother's presence if he might have the pleasure of the dance.

"'Deed an ye can't, then. Shure she's keeping herself cool for the Earl of Clanfurly!" was the pointed refusal volunteered by the ambitious mamma.—Exchange.

Evasive Disraeli.

Here is a story of Disraeli; it is one of his quick replies: A lady, who had asked him to dinner, when the eastern question was looming large, inquired, "Lord Beaconsfield, what are you waiting for?" "For mutton and potatoes."

At Munich many of the clerks at the banks and hotels are girls, and as cashiers and bookkeepers at restaurants and other houses of business they are well in evidence. Many women are also employed at railway stations as booking office clerks.

The New Zealand old age pensions bill provides that persons of good character attaining 65 and having resided for 20 years in the colony shall be entitled to a pension of £38 annually.

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of the vital organs. If the liver is inactive you have a bilious look; if your stomach is disordered you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys are affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good alterative and tonic. Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys, purifies the blood, cures pimples, blotches and boils, and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at C. E. Holton's drug store. 50 cents per bottle.

An Honest Medicine for La Grippe,

George W. Waitt of South Gardiner, Mo., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vender. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe and its exhausting after effects. Never fails. Howard Gardner.

Death of President Faure.

Paris, Feb. 16—M. Faure, president of the republic of France, died at 10 o'clock this evening after an illness of three hours of apoplexy. It had been known for some time that his heart was weak, but the first intimation that he was sick was given at 6:30 o'clock this afternoon, when a message was dispatched to the premier, M. Dupuy, announcing that the president was ill. M. Dupuy immediately repaired to the Elysee. All medical efforts proved futile and the president died on the stroke of 10.

Notes of The Prowler

"So far as I can see," said the Prowler, as he ventured out with the first rays of the sun this morning, "you dispensary fellows have got the coon and gone on. According to my view of the case if you hadn't polled but five votes yesterday you would have won because there were only two votes for the saloons and the other three would have been a majority in favor of the dispensary. But you did much better than that. It was a majority you were after and you got it to the tune of 531.

"The opponents of the dispensary say the primary was not legal. If it was not then our representatives had no right to ask for the sentiment of the people. Those same opponents said petitions were no good and could not be relied on, yet I see they are out after signers. They needn't get 'em. They're no good. Our representatives wouldn't listen to our petitions. Will they here their's? I am in a muddle over the thing; but think I am beginning to see through it. If you had made your 760 petitioners all vice-presidents you would have been in it. Don't you know that anything that is official goes? and it must be official to be legal? I am supprised that you overlooked that point.

"I suppose though, you didn't know any better. How can a man know anything unless he's been taught? It was only recently that you got a teacher, and as is always the case in backwoods schools, some of the scholars are densely ignorant, become unruly and won't listen to the teacher's words of wisdom Greensboro has always had advantages equal to Brown Summit or Benaja and it is such a pity you were so long without a competent instructor!

"But the 'die' is cast. You have disobeyed the rules of your teacher and must proceed to take your punishment. The teacher says to people in one place you shan't have any likker; if you do you will lose your job. To the people in another place he says you shall have likker, and if you don't take take it in the form I dictate you shall lose your job, your subscribers or your customers, as the case may be."

And the Prowler examined the soles of his shoes and asked how far it is to High Point, saying he understands that is a prohibition town and yet they can organize a company and put up a factory any day in the week on home capital and that the people there are prosperous, contented and happy.
